ARCHITECT BID: PETE DYE

Born: December 29, 1925 - Urbana, Ohio

Pete Dye felt a calling in the late '50s. A success in the insurance sales business at the time, he shifted gears and got into golf course design. Good thing. Now, 50 years later, he's considered in many circles the most influential course architect of his era.

The inventor of target golf, Dye utilizes a hands-on style that has increasingly come into vogue in recent years.

The result of his effort and attention to detail is a course that's relentlessly difficult, yet exhilarating to play. If you think golf is war, then his courses are the battle you want. More
