Stacey Pectol Confirmed to Executive Committee of the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks

Stacey Pectol, Clerk of the Arkansas Supreme Court and Arkansas Court of Appeals, has been confirmed to the Executive Committee of the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks (NCACC).

Stacey Pectol was appointed Clerk of the Courts by the Arkansas Supreme Court in July 2014, following the retirement of long-standing Clerk Leslie Steen. Ms. Pectol is a graduate of Hendrix College in Conway, Arkansas and the University of Arkansas at Little Rock William H. Bowen School of Law. She began her career as a law clerk to then-Chief Judge Donald L. Corbin at the Arkansas Court of Appeals. When he was elected to the Arkansas Supreme Court, she continued as his law clerk for several years. After serving as in-house counsel for Express Human Resources, Inc., Ms. Pectol took a break in her career to begin a family. Thereafter, she returned to the Arkansas Supreme Court to again serve as Justice Corbin's law clerk in the years before his retirement. As Clerk of the Courts, Ms. Pectol has implemented electronic filing of motions and briefs in the Arkansas appellate courts and will now focus on obtaining appellate records in electronic format.

The National Conference of Appellate Court Clerks was established in 1973 with the objectives of improving the skills and knowledge of its members, promoting effective court administration, providing a forum for the exchange of ideas, and maintaining facilities for the dissemination of information concerning appellate court operations. Its membership is comprised of state, federal, and military appellate and Supreme Court clerks from the United
